

Data Teams:: The Big Picture, Looking at Data Teams Through a Collaborative Lens

A Data Team is an organized group of teachers and administrators that monitors data, analyzes strengths and obstacles, establishes goals, selects instructional strategies, and evaluates results for individual students. Data Teams are the polar opposite of the old system that was euphemistically called, Wait to Fail where teachers took little or no action until the student failed. This is an anthology covering the major subsets of Data Team functions written by experts in those subsets.
